Conway Sentenced 20-50 Years

Richard Conway, 32, of South Branch Township, was sentenced to 20 to 50 years in a state correctional facility for killing his 11-week-old daughter, Kati Jo Conway.

In a pre-sentencing hearing last Wednesday, Sept. 27, that lasted nearly seven hours, Circuit Court Judge William Porter heard testimony from family members, a psychologist, and the defendant, Richard S. Conway, regarding the abuse Conway had suffered as a child and his history of mental illness.

Repeatedly the hearing was delayed when family members wept as they described their husband, brother, or son as a loving person who cared deeply for his children. At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Porter rendered his decision for the 20 to 50 years in prison.

HOMECOMING QUEEN & KING - Anne Petrosky and Tony Doremire were crowned the 1989 Homecoming Queen and King Friday night. See more Homecoming photos on page 12.

Conway's brothers, James and Peter, described their brother as loyal and trustworthy. They said that Richard had been reaching out for help prior to August, 1988, but no one in the family understood the degree of stress he was experiencing. Peter told the judge that Richard was not a threat to society, comparing the circumstance that led his brother to kill Kati Jo to a "bad sore that no longer exists." He said that sending Richard to prison would not be justice.

Margaret Moran, Conway's mother, presented photographs depicting the "real Richard" taken on his wedding day, at the birth of his eldest daughter, Paige, and at family celebrations. Mrs. Moran described her son as an immensely talented pianist who thought only of others and not enough about his own needs.

"I am convinced that if Richard had been more selfish he wouldn't be here today," she said.

During most of the testimony Conway listened with his right cheek resting in his right hand, but during his mother's description of his wedding day, he broke down and wept openly.

Conway took the stand at 11:40 a.m. to read a prepared statement and did not finish his testimony until after 2 p.m. Conway set aside the prepared text and instead spoke about his abusive childhood, his mental problems while in the Navy that led to his early release, his marital difficulties, and the events that led up to Kati Jo Conway's death in August, 1988.

Conway said he hugged Kati Jo to comfort her and let her know he was there for her.

Conway spoke of playing with his infant daughter as he did with Paige, throwing her into the air and swinging her by her feet and hands.

Conway said Kati Jo bumped her head on the wall when he picked her up.

Conway told of hitting the baby on the back of her head to get her to stop crying as well as shaking her.

"When the doctors kept finding Kati Jo's broken bones, I was as shocked as Mary Jo because I was unaware that I was hurting her," said Conway. "I'm going to suffer for the rest of my life."

"I didn't beat her, she died because I shook her."

"I am still a sick young man," he said, "but I don't feel I am a threat to society or to Paige. I isolated Kati Jo and took my stress out on her because it is an illness, like cancer, but cancer is curable." Conway said that as a child he had been shown that adults take stresses out on children.

"I lived that way," he said.

During Conway's pre-sentencing testimony he repeatedly contradicted his earlier testimony including his guilty plea where he stated that "to get her to stop crying, I struck her head on the

Task Force To Explore Another Ambulance Option

A 13-person task force to explore changing the county ambulance service to a private, non-profit corporation was created by the Crawford County Board of Commissioners at their meeting last Thursday.

Three advantages connected with the private, non-profit corporation are 1) more grants available to buy ambulances and equipment, 2) higher payments from Medicare for ambulance runs, 3) businesses and people may be more willing to donate.

The commissioners did not make any commitment to change to a private, non-profit corporation. Commissioners told Howard Taylor, head of a citizens group looking in the ambulance situation, they didn't want him to feel the commissioners were stepping on his toes.

The commissioners' plan is to have the citizens group make a recommendation by November 14 on the best way to provide ambulance service for the county. The commissioners will then make a decision.

Beth Wieland, a member of the new task force, said the idea of the task force is to do some preliminary work now in case the commissioners do want to go the route of private, non-profit corporation. She said the Crawford County Ambulance Corps is already in place if it was decided to go for a millage and keep the county ambulance service going. And it wouldn't take long for a private firm to be set in place. But if the commissioners decide to go private, non-profit corporation, some leg-work needs to be started before November 14, she said.

Taylor said the organization of the citizens group is complete and they have started interviews and a survey to obtain all the information they need about how other ambulance services

ACT Protests Grayling Meeting

G-P Air Permit Case Moves to Lansing

A group of AuSable Conservation Trust (ACT) supporters cried "foul" when they learned a DNR meeting held last Wednesday on a Georgia-Pacific air permit was not a public hearing as had been requested but an informal, informational meeting.

Following a statement by ACT President Linda Caswell, 12 persons walked out of the meeting at the Grayling Holiday Inn and formed a picket line in front of the building. They carried signs and wore green T-shirts saying "ACT NOW, FORMALDEHYDE IS FOR CADAVERS."

In addition to ACT's opposition to the informal meeting where individual testimony will not be forwarded to the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission (MAPCC) but will be summarized, the group also stated that 14 days public notice of the Sept. 27 meeting was inadequate.

Caswell said that ACT had received signatures from 120 Beaver Creek Township residents who oppose the Georgia-Pacific expansion project. She said because Wednesday's meeting was held on a week night rather than on a weekend as agreed upon, neither the area residents nor the taxpayers who live out of the area could be properly represented at the DNR's informal meeting or the MAPCC's public hearing in Lansing Oct. 17.

"On behalf of the seasonal and year-round taxpaying residents of Beaver Creek Township, whose quality of life is being gravely affected, ACT is protesting the building of this chemical plant," stated Caswell. She said 67,720 lbs. of formaldehyde and 4,760 lbs. of phenol are too much of a risk to add to the air emissions of the 7th highest cancer-rated-county-per-capita in Michigan.

Ardon Toulant, Regional Supervisor at the DNR Roscommon Headquarters, stated the public hearing would be held at the Harley Hotel in East Lansing rather than Grayling because the Georgia-Pacific permit was only one of many permits to be considered by the Commission at their October meeting. He said it would be impossible for the commission to hold hearings in every affected community for each permit. He told the group that the commission was open for public comment, written and verbal, and encouraged concerned individuals to go to the October public hearing to express their concerns.

DNR RECOMMENDS APPROVAL
Randal Telesz, of the Air Quality Control Division, said the Air Quality Control staff had determined that the proposed formaldehyde process complies with all applicable federal and state air quality regulations and recommends that the MAPCC authorize approval of the permit, subject to the permit conditions and new information regarding air quality issues received during the comment period or the hearing.

Copies of the staff analysis and proposed permit conditions are available at the Roscommon Regional Headquarters, 8717 North Roscommon Road, and in Lansing at the Air Quality Division on the 4th floor of the Steven T. Mason Building, 530 West Allegan St.

In addition to the Sept. 27 meeting, Telesz said

Avalanche Wins Three State Press Awards

The Crawford County Avalanche won three excellence awards in the 1989 Michigan Press Association Better Newspaper Contest.

The Avalanche received honorable mention in the categories of special sections, editorial pages, and local columns for weekly newspapers.

The Crawford County Avalanche Milltown Keepsake Edition won honorable mention in the special section category for weeklies with a circulation of 5,000 or less. Comments of the judges from the Arkansas Press Association on the Milltown Keepsake Edition were "Yes, you live up to the name. It really is a keepsake. Filled with lots of stories and photos, I bet it is read, re-read, saved and mailed away. Nice job."

Avalanche columnist Nancy Lemmen won honorable mention in the category of local columns for all sizes of weeklies. Her column about a dog named Buddy, published in her Notes From The North Woods column won the recognition.

The Avalanche also received honorable mention for its editorial page in the weekly category for papers with 5,000 circulation or less.

KITCHEN FIRE—The Edwin Funck home on Michigan Avenue sustained an estimated $8,000 in fire and smoke damage when an electrical malfunction started a fire in the kitchen. The kitchen was gutted, the dining room heavily damaged, and the rest of the house suffered smoke damage. No one was home when the fire broke out, but the family pet dog perished in the fire. Grayling Chef Earns Certificate

Chef Edward E. Poplaski, Executive Chef in the Grayling Holiday Inn, has been awarded the Certified Food and Beverage Executive designation by the Educational Institute of the American Hotel & Motel Association.

The Certified Food and Beverage Executive is one of the highest designations offered by the Educational Institute.

To qualify for this distinction, hotel-motel executives must demonstrate academic achievement and industry achievement.

Within recent days, Ed added the award as Certified Executive Chef (CEC), given by the American Culinary Institute.

Earlier this spring, he attended the Holiday Inn University to obtain his certification as Food & Beverage Manager for

Chef Edward Poplaski

Holiday Inns. He is vice-president of the Northern Michigan Chef's Association. In that capacity Ed has done a number of television cooking demonstrations and has sent hundreds of recipes to area residents on demand. "Ed has not only managed his department in a professional manner, but also has been instrumental in inspiring three young men in his employ, to further their education in the hospitality industry, by attending college courses, along with his practical training expertise," said Dean Smith, Holiday Inn Manager. "Chef Ed is a very vital addition, not only to the progress of the Holiday Inn, but also to the Grayling community and area, where many have enjoyed his excellent variety of menu items," said Smith.

Opinions

Northern Views

By Jon Thompson
Avalanche Editor

One thing I've always disliked reading in other newspapers is a column by a reporter or editor complaining or whining about how tough newspaper work is. Practically everyone has tough days at their jobs but how often do you see a column about the problems of carpenters, waitresses, or woodcutters? To be fair, I think stories about newspaper work shouldn't appear any more often than stories about other local jobs or professions.

This column isn't supposed to be a sob-story about how tough newspaper work is. Instead it's a look at some of the complaints we hear, published in an informational column that we won't print more than once a year.

The Avalanche is too much advertising. All you care about is making money.

The Avalanche better have a lot of advertising in order to stay in business. The 35 cents paid for each newspaper doesn't even cover the cost of printing our average run of 5,100 papers. The Avalanche is usually 55 to 60 percent advertising with the rest news.

We help make money for businesses who advertise and their money gives us the chance to publish Crawford County news.

There's no news in the Avalanche anymore.

We average about 20 pages now compared to about 15½ pages five years ago. More pages mean more room for news. In the last year, we've devoted a lot of space to in-depth articles on Camp Lehman, child abuse in Crawford County, the Shawono Center, Georgia Pacific's proposed formaldehyde plant, ambulance services, Camp Grayling, county operations and school finances.

All the Avalanche cares about are the sensational news stories to sell more papers.

Our circulation is pretty steady the whole year no matter what story we print. Our Milltown Keepsake Edition is our best selling issue. The Avalanche, compared to other newspapers, is fairly conservative in its handling of sensational stories. As a community newspapers we have more stories promoting the youth in our area than we have controversial stories.

Why do you print District Court news? To embarrass people?

The District Court and Circuit Court news we publish is public information available to everyone who walks into the county courthouse. We feel county residents have the right to know who is being convicted of breaking into homes, drunk driving, or other crimes. If publishing this news helps embarrass and deter even one person from driving drunk again and killing someone on the highway, it's worth it.

Okay, but do you have to print my name in District Court?

We feel the Avalanche has to print all the names. If we left one out it wouldn't be fair to all the others whose name we did print. Since December, 1986, when we made this policy, we've printed every name and you can check the records at the courthouse.

Why are some court cases one or two years old before they're printed?

Many things delay court proceedings. We print District Court news when a person is arraigned on a charge and when they are sentenced or the case dismissed. We print Circuit Court news when a person is sentenced. Some cases are suppressed by a judge and no news is printed until a circuit court sentencing.

Why do you print those letters that get people mad?

We print most of the letters to the editor we receive because having an opinion page is important. It's widely read and how else can someone in this county reach more than 5,000 readers? Our goal isn't to get people mad. Our goal is to provide a space for a wide range of opinions. Censoring letters or chucking them into the wastebasket isn't providing an open forum.

But does the Avalanche have to support those letter writers by giving them big headlines?

All the letters have headlines expressing the letterwriter's point of view. You wouldn't like it if we published your letter and then put a headline above it "Stupid Reader Doesn't Know His Head From A Hole In The Ground."

The Avalanche used to get here by 9 a.m. on Wednesdays. What are you doing, sleeping in late?

We're the first paper printed at Central Printing in Gaylord when it opens at 6 a.m. Wednesday morning. We average a few more pages than a couple of years ago, we usually have more color, and our press run is a little larger. This adds a few minutes but what's been slowing down the delivery has usually been advertising inserts. It takes more than an hour to stuff inserts into 5,100 newspapers. Or if we have two sections to our newspaper, one section has to be stuffed into the other adding another hour at the printing plant.

On good weather mornings, the Avalanche should usually arrive at Frederic by 9:30 a.m. and at the Avalanche by 10 a.m. All Grayling stores and the post office should receive the paper by 1 p.m. Anything before those times, consider us early.

Can't you spell at the Avalanche?

Even if we can't, we should be able to check a dictionary or telephone book in case of names. If your name is spelled wrong, please call. A lot of local news is turned in over the counter and it's hard to check all of the names.

How can you call yourself the Grayling newspaper when the Adz sometimes has a local story that you don't have?

The Adz is produced by the Gaylord Herald Times, one of the best weekly newspapers around. They subscribe to an AP wire service that sometimes picks up a story from a Lansing government source about our area. If we do get beat, scooped, or whatever on a story, we try to give our readers a more in-depth article on the subject because Adz usually only has room for brief stories. We call ourselves your hometown paper because Adz usually publishes 8 to 15 Grayling stories and photographs each week and we publish 80 to 150.

Why doesn't the Avalanche cover our club meetings?

We have one fulltime and one parttime reporter/photographer. We can't cover everything so we start at the top with the most important stories and try to cover clubs when they have their special events.

My local article was turned in before your deadline. Why wasn't it in this week's newspaper?

We try to put the most important stories in first. Each week it is a challenge to fit all the local news in. Sometimes a small article, that isn't timely, doesn't warrant adding two more pages. (The way the paper is printed, you have to add at least two pages, not just one.)

How did the Avalanche come up with its name?

I think the first owner was standing outside his new office one January day trying to think of a name for the newspaper when a huge pile of snow and ice fell off the roof on his head. While his head was still a bit cloudy he decided to name the newspaper "Avalanche."

My own theory is that the paper used to be called the Crawford County Advance (Advance is a popular name for newspapers) in the very early days. Then some worker at the newspaper pulled a joke on the editor and changed the nameplate one week to read "Crawford County Avalanche" instead of "Crawford County Advance" just to see if the editor would notice. (Believe me folks, newspaper workers do these kinds of things.) The poor editor didn't notice it until after 2,000 newspapers were printed. Rather than admit it was a mistake, the editor just announced it was the newspaper's new name.

Why did you change the name of the Avalanche to "Crawford County Advance" this week?

Don't ask.

Letters to the Editor

Reader Urges That People Oppose Proposed Plant

Dear neighbors,

I am writing the editor so that you will become aware of what is going on very close to us.

Georgia Pacific wants to open a toxic chemical manufacturing plant in our backyards. The company has already received a six year tax abatement for the expansion of a formaldehyde manufacturing plant and are now waiting approval on the air pollution permits required by the State of Michigan.

I feel very strongly against this plant opening for several reasons. We are near the AuSable, and Manistee Rivers, Higgins and Houghton Lakes. We can not allow the risk of having a chemical leak explode into our air, or filter into our water supply of our area.

The company claims that they have a great safety record, but ask them about the toxic chemical explosion in Columbus, Ohio, in 1984. My concern is what if??? Then it will be much too late, the effects will be devastating.

There is a lot of argument as to what levels of formaldehyde is safe. The truth is no one really knows at what levels certain people will have adverse health affects from formaldehyde. The government does allow certain levels that they claim as safe for the environment, but that standard is for the whole country, not an area that has been untouched by pollutants. Do you know that this will be Michigan's first toxic chemical manufacturing formaldehyde plant? The state of Michigan does not even have a chemical engineer on the Air Quality Committee.

Please area residents, help stop this plant from locating in our backyards. Six jobs and a six year tax abatement are not worth giving up our quality of life. If you are opposed to the Georgia Pacific Resin Toxic Chemical Manufacturing Plant locating in our backyards and wish to voice your concerns please write to Gov. Blanchard, Rep. Ralph Ostling, Sen. Connie Binsfeld and the D.N.R. Air Quality Division, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing, Mich. 48909.

We have a deadline. The Air Pollution Control Commission meeting is Oct. 17, in Lansing. They need to hear public opinion now! Please spread the word to everyone you know, write letters, sign petitions, come to Lansing on the 17th of Oct. We need to be heard now, don't think someone else is going to do it for you. We need everyone's help that is not in favor of this toxic plant in our area.

Reader Says Trash Destroys Beauty

Dear Editor,

I purchased a home in the Grayling area one year ago and I would like to share my impressions of the area with your readers.

Although the beauty of the area goes without question, and the friendly people make the area a pleasure to live in, we as property owners, have some problems that in the long run could deface and thus destroy the beauty of our area.

I recently took up fly fishing. The pleasure I have enjoyed on the river is too much to describe in this short article, however, sadness is also generated when I see what is happening to our river. Basically it is trash; when I walk the river, it is sad to see the bottles and cans that litter the bottom and sides of such a beautiful river.

Cleanup is helpful, however, prevention is a better answer. Why can't our canoe rental businesses place a sign regarding littering and also inform each rental group of their responsibility in this matter. A better answer is to not allow cans or bottles in the canoes, allow personal coolers only.

The foul language is also a real problem, again some control at the point of rental would be a great help.

One other item, I would like to mention because it directly affects the beauty of any area, is fences. Camp Grayling has done an injustice to the area by fencing in the area by the tank track; if they claim the area is fenced due to unexploded shells then they should be responsible for cleaning up the area, and thus restoring it to its original safe and beautiful acreage.

Another sad sight is the fenced area along North Down River Road just east of Grayling. This is the open north country, it sure would be great to see it stay that way.

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

Here it is Saturday, the twenty-third of September; it's cold and snow is in the air, all in all it's a pretty lousy day. But our hearts should go out to those poor people who were in the path of that killer storm HUGO that killed so many people and destroyed so many homes. Here we complain of bad weather but we face nothing to compare to those storms that destroy everything in their path. Here we know that the next few months will bring a lot of cold and snow, but we also know we will survive in our snug warm houses. Those poor people that lost everything to the fury of that storm would be glad to trade places with us. We should consider ourselves lucky to live in an area where we can survive the storms we face.

I am sitting thinking of the twenty-thirds of September of the past. I was born sixty-one years ago today so this day of the year is kind of special to me. I remember that back in about forty-four there was eight or ten inches of snow on the ground on this date. Some years it was a bright warm day but in most cases it was a bad day, with rain, cold or something to dampen the day.

I can't help wishing I could reverse the numbers of my age and be sixteen again. I hope I would be a lot wiser the next time around. Think back a few years, if we could have seen ahead a few years we could all be millionaires. Land that sold for a few dollars not long ago is worth a small fortune now. Land I could have bought for five dollars an acre they are pumping oil out of every day. River and lake frontage you could pick up cheap a few years ago is selling for a small fortune today.

I remember when I was young I thought the days of opportunity in this area were long past. How wrong I was. I remember years ago my Dad could have traded an old horse for forty acres of lake frontage property on Manistee Lake. But at that time the old horse was worth more than the land. A farm that once sold for six hundred dollars is selling for a hundred times that today. Who can say what the next sixty-one years will bring.

Will the lady that sent me that Elgin wrist watch that was found at the ski park long ago please contact me. We have made an earnest effort to find the owner without any luck so I feel you should have it. Give me a call at 348-8308.

When does life begin?

If you believe that life begins at conception (as Judge Young has ruled), then most of what follows is fairly easy to decide. Life must be protected, especially by the mother (and father) who are responsible for starting that life. Fertilized eggs are human, and humans should not be destroyed. Humans -- even fertilized eggs, if they are human -- have the right to live, and enjoy other rights our system affords to other living beings, different only by the fact that they are out of the womb rather than still inside the womb.

If you believe -- as the husband in this case believes -- that embryos are "just genetic material," then most of what follows also is fairly easy to decide. It should be left up to the woman to decide how to use her body. If she doesn't want to continue to carry "just genetic material," then she should have the right to dispose of it in any way and for any reason she decides. It's her body and her life.

THE PROBLEM IS that there is prolonged and legitimate disagreement about when life begins -- despite Judge Young's ruling in Tennessee. This will continue despite what other courts rule, too.

The question is so fundamental, and so complicated -- mixing religious tenets with scientific claims, and all overlarded with extreme emotion -- that unanimous agreement is well nigh impossible.

AND WHAT ABOUT special circumstances? What about victims of rape and incest?

Again, if the basic premise that life begins at conception is acceptable, decisions become easier.

In a recent Senate debate, Sen. Gordon Humphrey of New Hampshire said: "A child conceived in the crime of rape or incest is no less human than those other children conceived under more loving circumstances."

Mr. Humphrey is right; under the Judge Young doctrine of immediate life for fertilized eggs, these are humans and deserve protection. The mother may be an unfortunate victim, but the welfare of the "child" must be paramount.

The question of when life begins, and thus when it must be protected, is an ethical quandary that will continue.

The frozen embryo case in Tennessee does not solve the question. But it does provide a clear focus of the underlying division in our national disagreement.

THE WHOLE ISSUE involved in the highly-charged emotional disagreement surrounding abortion was brought into clear focus in the recent ruling by an otherwise obscure Tennessee county judge.

The case centered around frozen embryos.

A young couple had started the in vitro birth process attempting to have a child. Seven of the woman's eggs were fertilized. Then the couple had a falling out.

The woman wanted to continue the process on her own, and hopefully to have a child. The man objected, claiming that would be forcing him to become a father against his will; he didn't want his former wife to bear and raise his child.

They went to court. Should the court award custody of the frozen embryos to the woman, who would try to give birth ... or to the man, who would destroy them?

Circuit Judge W. Dale Young had to decide. He called it "the toughest decision of my life as a judge ... on a scale of 1 to 10, it was a 10. I have agonized over it."

THE JUDGE AWARDED the embryos to the woman. The embryos are human, he decided, and therefore this became a typical child custody dispute.

"From fertilization, the cells of a human embryo are differentiated, unique and specialized to the highest degree of distinction," Judge Young said.

"Human life begins at conception. (The couple has) produced human beings, in vitro, to be known as their child or children."

Once this conclusion was reached, the rest was simple ... it became like any other child custody case, with the overriding concern being the child's welfare. That rested with the woman, not the man, the judge decided.

Expectedly, the woman agreed: "I'm definitely going to celebrate," she said. "I consider them (the frozen embryos) life. To me it would be killing them if you destroyed them."

Predictably, the man disagreed: "I still do not feel these embryos are human. They have the potential for life, but they are just genetic material."

He plans to appeal.

IN A NUTSHELL, this is really what the whole abortion uproar is about. When does life begin?

Conway Sentenced

wall in the family room several times quite hard." Conway said that his daughter became semi-conscious at that time.

Kati Jo Conway was taken to Dr. Lloyd Hooper's office in Roscommon, to Grayling Mercy Hospital by ambulance, and was transferred to Munson Medical Center in Traverse City by helicopter. She died at 4:12 on August 6.

The autopsy report revealed that Kati Jo Conway had multiple rib fractures including the left sixth and seventh ribs and the third through seventh ribs on the right side.

It stated that 11-week-old Kati Jo Conway had several fractures at the distal ends of both the femurs and tibiae. Dr. Stephan D. Cole, Forensic Pathologist at Blodgett Memorial Medical Center, stated at Conway's preliminary hearing, that in his opinion, it would take a tremendous amount of force to inflict these types of fractures.

"Probably an adult-size person would have to jerk on the extremities with all his or her might as hard as they could," he said.

The autopsy report said that Kati Jo Conway had suffered three recent skull fractures and listed the cause of death as craniocerebral trauma.

Immediately following Kati Jo Conway's hospitalization, Conway told hospital officials and later the police that his daughter, Paige, had pushed over the baby's swing causing Kati Jo to hit her head on the floor. In July he pled guilty to second degree murder.

Donald E. Fitzgerald, PhD, a clinical psychologist at the Battle Creek Veterans Hospital, who had been seeing Conway about twice a week until his bond was revoked in August, said that Conway had a narcissistic and histrionic personality disorder. These disorders manifest themselves in an excessive interest in one's own appearance, comfort, importance, and abilities.

When asked if Conway's personality disorders could be cured, Dr. Fitzgerald likened Conway's problems to an amputated leg. He said with a prosthesis the amputee could be taught to stand upright, walk, and function in a mobile society, but in the end he would still be missing a leg. Dr. Fitzgerald said Conway has come a long way in recognizing his responsibility in the death of Kati Jo, but that he required long-term therapy to enable him to "stop running his needs over the top of others," but that his personality would always be missing something. He said that Conway was mentally handicapped. Dr. Fitzgerald also said that in his opinion, Conway was not aware that what he was doing to his baby could kill her.

"He was just trying to stop her from crying," he said.

Mary Jo Conway testified that her husband had been a victim of child abuse. She said Conway had been kidnapped by his mother and her boyfriend from his father's home in New Mexico when he was 10 years old. She said Conway was tied, gagged and zipped into a sleeping bag until they were well outside Albuquerque. During the kidnapping, Conway was beaten about the face, she said. Conway returned to New Mexico with his father, but later came to live with his mother and suffered additional abuse from his stepfather.

"I have no doubt that Kati Jo was loved by her father," said Mary Jo Conway. "We may not fully understand how a sick man could do these horrendous things to a sweet precious baby, but I know Richard was sick when it happened. Richard needs intense psycho-therapy."

Prosecuting Attorney John Huss asked Mary Jo Conway if she had even seen her husband violent and she recalled several incidences. Once, following a Christmas party when Conway had too much to drink and had become abusive, Mary Jo said she called the police because she said she was concerned about her and Paige's safety. She told of his hitting her on her back with the palm of his hand several times, once knocking her on the ground when she was four months pregnant with Kati Jo. She said Conway slapped Kati Jo on the face when she was two weeks old.

The maximum sentence Conway could have received is life. The sentence agreement for the guilty plea was for not less than 20 years.

Conway's guilty plea saved the county approximately $50,000, according to the prosecutor's office. If a trial would have taken place the prosecution would have called witnesses from as far away as Texas. The county would have had to pay all transportation, lodging, meals, witness fee expenses as well as all jury fees. These expenses would have increased substantially if a change of venue would have been requested and granted, and the trial held in another county.

Just prior to sentencing, Huss said that he never had the opportunity to meet the victim, Kati Jo Conway. He said she was born on May 17, 1988 and died on August 6, and that during that time he had not had a good life.

"The one person who should have cherished her, loved her, and protected her, namely her father, Richard Conway, did not fulfill his responsibilities," stated Huss, "and now she will never know what a snow storm is like, will never hug a puppy, go to school, fall in love, marry, or hold her own children in her arms."

At the conclusion of the hearing, Huss stated that he was very satisfied with the Judges' sentence.

"There was just too much physical evidence, too much horrendous injury to the baby," he said. "The sentence was extremely fair and appropriate under the circumstances."

"This has been a terrible tragedy for everyone," said Mary Jo Conway. "I just pray that Richard can get the psychological help he needs while serving his sentence."

G-P Air Permit

the MAPCC was currently holding a 21-day public comment period to provide an opportunity to comment on the proposed formaldehyde manufacturing process.

USE SCIENTIFIC DATA

Roy Spangler, from the MSU Cooperative Extension, and a resident of Roscommon County, encouraged the Air Quality Commission and the DNR to make their decision about Georgia-Pacific's permit based on scientific data.

There have been a lot of emotional statements made about the project as well as statements made about the economics of the project," he said, "and probably neither one of those issues should be the deciding factor." He said scientific data and the safety of the affected communities should be the primary factors in deciding the permit question.

Joseph Newman, manager of the Georgia-Pacific Resin facility on Four Mile Road, location for the proposed formaldehyde plant, stated that Georgia-Pacific had amended their application twice to insure there will no increase in formaldehyde emissions. He said the new facility will increase the county's tax base, increase employment, and increase the revenues to other local businesses.

"From a personal standpoint," said Newman, "Although I am interested in having a good job with Georgia-Pacific, I am also committed to a clean environment. I do not feel the proposed expansion poses any risk to ensuring my family will grow up in quality surroundings." He said Georgia-Pacific is a responsibly managed and operated company.

CHAMBER SUPPORT

Grayling Regional Chamber Director Deb Barry spoke in support of the proposed expansion project and read a letter from Chamber President William Cary.

"Industry as well as tourism is essential to the economic status and quality of life we currently enjoy in Crawford County," said Cary. "The forest products industries are some of the largest employers in Crawford County, and one of the largest is Georgia-Pacific." Cary said Georgia-Pacific has maintained an excellent track record in Crawford County and is considered by the Chamber to be a valued asset.

Lawrence Frymire, of Eagle Point Road, questioned the Air Quality Control staff report concerning the worse case scenario. The report dealt with normal operation conditions for worse case scenarios.

"What happens if the place blows up?" asked Frymire.

"That's not normal operation," said Telesz. Frymire said, in his opinion, a worse case scenario should take into consideration an accident, not occurrences in normal operations.

"There are so many possibilities in terms of the amount of materials spilled, the magnitude of the accident, the meteorological conditions at that time, and how the company and the local officials respond to the situation that it is impossible to predict a worse case scenario," explained David Yanochko, Senior Engineer with Air Quality Control Division. He said short term, reversible side effects that could occur during a spill would include eye irritations, headaches, and breathing problems.

"I have had an opportunity to see how Georgia-Pacific operates, how their safety standards are maintained, and how their housekeeping is maintained," said Robert Rudy, of Grayling. "If they follow these standards in their formaldehyde facility, gentlemen, I would encourage you to grant their permit."

STANDARDS NOT HIGH ENOUGH

George Stancil pointed out that over the last 10-15 years many decisions have been made regarding environmental concerns based on scientific data, and that the result has been a continual deterioration of air and water quality. He proposed that these scientific standards are not high enough and that in the next century, Americans are going to be dealing with some very serious environmental problems. Stancil said the air quality standards for Crawford County are the same as in the Trenton and River Rouge area, and that based on compliance of these standards, it is possible along with this formaldehyde plant, that steel plant, a paper mill and any other type of industry could locate in Crawford County.

Many other local residents spoke in favor and in opposition of the proposed formaldehyde facility. In addition to the panel of Air Quality Control experts, there were 10 representatives from Georgia-Pacific to answer questions.

Georgia-Pacific is also in the process of applying for a storage permit with the Water Resources Commission.

are operating. They contacted 35 private and public ambulance services requesting information on collecting money, service hours, service areas, wages, number of paramedics, EMT's, and attendants used, and other items. They are following up survey forms sent in the mail with phone calls and visits.

Taylor said the goal of the citizens group is to make a recommendation for the best possible emergency service at the most economical price, whatever service that might be - county, private, non-profit, or anything else.

The task force to explore a private, non-profit corporation option will include: Joe Callewaert, Jeannette Kitchen, Bob McLachlan, John Huss, Beth Wieland, Joe Wakeley, Toney Doremire, two representatives to be named by Mercy Hospital, two representatives to be named by the citizens group, one representative to be named by the townships and city, and one citizen, Ed Holtcamp, named by the county commissioners.

The commissioners also decided to send letters to four private ambulance companies requesting service and financial information to have on file to help make a decision concerning ambulance service.

Tony Doremire, director of the Crawford County Ambulance Corps, told the commissioners some good news about the county ambulance service. Doremire said the county service has managed to knock more than $3,000 off the approximate debt figure of $13,000 that the service was running in the red this year.

Petoskey Spoils Grayling's Homecoming

The weather was perfect, homecoming spirit was high and it mattered little to fans that the Grayling Vikings were going up against one of the conference's powerhouse teams.

"We were surprised that we were able to move the ball easily against Petoskey early in the first quarter," said head coach Don Stowers. "They really didn't stop us, we stopped ourselves with penalties, two or three times."

However, by the end of the game last Friday, September 29, Petoskey had once again shown themselves worthy of their rating as one of the best teams in the north, defeating Grayling 38-11.

Grayling received the opening kick-off and controlled the ball for most of the first quarter. Two major penalties against Petoskey, a pass interference call and a roughing the kicker on a field goal attempt, helped Grayling score first with 4:28 remaining in the quarter on a 22 yard Andy Eriksson field goal. Up to that point, Petoskey had not touched the ball except for a pass interception they ran in for a touchdown that was called back because of an interference penalty.

With 1:05 to go Petoskey came back and scored their first touchdown. The point after was good, making the score at the end of the first quarter 7-3, Petoskey.

Petoskey scored early in the second quarter when they blocked a punt, recovering the ball on Grayling's 6 yard line. Three plays later they ran the ball in for a touchdown. Extra point was no good.

Petoskey scored again, making good on a two point conversion run.

Late in the second quarter, McKinney intercepted a Petoskey pass and carried the ball deep into Petoskey's territory. Two plays later McKinney scored on a Matt Branch pass. The two point conversion was good, making the half time score 21-11, Petoskey.

The second half of the game belonged to Petoskey. They ran and passed the ball well, scoring twice with a two point conversion on the first touchdown and a one point conversion on the second touchdown.

Stowers said offensively quarterback Matt Branch played a good game.

"Our offensive line played much better in this game," Stowers said. "Max Prosser at guard, Nate Ginther, part of the game at center and the other part at tackle and we had Todd Thorsen at guard and center."

Stowers moved Frank Hartwick to offensive tackle and David Teddy played well at tight end.

Defensively, good games were played by Joe LaForest at nose guard, and Todd Millikin at defensive tackle.

Swedish exchange student, Andy Eriksson, had a good kicking game.

Grayling travels to Boyne City Friday, October 6.

"We are showing improvement each game," said Stowers, "and now that the toughest part of our schedule is behind us, we feel we have an equal chance at the remaining teams."

BIG GAIN—Mick McKinney made a long run against Petoskey in the first half.

Here's a "believe-it-or-not" from football...The University of Louisville and Drake University met in a game Sept. 13, 1969—and going into that game, Louisville held the all-time NCAA record for playing the most consecutive games without a tie, 171, and by coincidence, Drake ranked second in that record, having played 169 straight games without a tie...What happened when they played each other that day?...You guessed it...They played a tie game!...Final score: 24-24.

What are the most games in a row any team ever lost in the National Football League?...The all-time NFL record was set by Tampa Bay when they lost 26 straight in 1976 and 1977.

One of the most unusual afternoons in college football happened Sat. Oct. 1, 1932 when the University of Illinois' varsity football team played 2 different teams on the SAME day...Illinois played a full game against Miami of Ohio, and then played a full game against Coe College—one right after the other...The idea was a promotional stunt to increase attendance...And Illinois won both games, 20-7 and 13-0!

JV's Turn Tables With Late Touchdown

Scott Hartman's interception with 2 minutes 8 seconds remaining in the game, set up Grayling's final touchdown that put the J.V.'s over the top, 12-6, in a tough defensive game with Kingsley last Thursday, September 28.

With 33 seconds to go, Gary Schroyer, on a fourth and one, ran in from 20 yards to break a 6-6 tie and give Grayling the last minute victory. The Grayling J.V.'s lost their last two games in the final seconds, but Thursday night at Kingsley, they turned the table on a good team that was both big and physical, and that had only given up six points all year.

Grayling kicked off to Kingsley in the first quarter and held them, and then scored on their first possession on a 25 yard run by Gary Schroyer. The extra point was no good.

The score stood at 6-0, Grayling, until the second quarter when a Kingsley touchdown tied the score 6-6.

The second half was a defensive game with neither team able to generate much of an offense until Schroyer's touchdown late in the fourth quarter.

Pass interceptions by Schroyer and Steve Branch helped the J.V. effort.

"Defense was the key," said Coach Fred Wolcott. "They just couldn't move the ball on us." Wolcott said Kingsley had scored 114 points this year, giving up only six.

The J.V.'s host Rogers City this Thursday.

Viking Press Proves Too Tough for Saints 62-47

The Varsity girls had five days to prepare for their basketball game with St. Ignace last Thursday, September 29, and their effort paid off, as they defeated the Saints, 62-47.

Grayling had anticipated a tough quick team, and they were not disappointed. St. Ignace came onto the floor strong and took an early lead, but by the end of the first quarter Grayling was able to tie the score 14-14.

Coach Howard Lehti said his team played four full quarters and was able to control the game's tempo.

"This has always been the goal of our team," he said, but Thursday night was the first game where this goal was achieved.

Melanie Ojala led her team in points scored with 21 and turned in her best game of this season. Ojala led had 6 assists and 10 steals, most of which resulted in successful lay-ups. She also scored three 3-pointers. Other points were made by: Heather Stephenson 11, with 4 assists and 8 rebounds; Nikki Trenary, the tallest person on the floor, used her height to score 11 points and make 7 rebounds, her best performance this year. Michelle Burcham, doubled teamed most the night and in early foul trouble, scored 7 points, with 6 rebounds. Nikki Morrill had 4 with 3 assists and Margarita Perez and Janet Bickford had 4 points each.

Bickford was also credited by Lehti as having her best game, grabbing several rebounds.

"We made an adjustment from a half court press to a full court press for the final three quarters of the game," said Lehti, "which proved to be too much for the St. Ignace guards to handle." He said Grayling was surprised that their press bothered the Saints as much as it did.

Grayling played Gaylord at Gaylord Tuesday night, and travels to Petoskey on Thursday.

BEST GAME—Nikki Trenary (54) had her best game of the year against St. Ignace with 11 points and 7 rebounds.

6-Point Half Hurt Grayling JV Girls

The Grayling J.V.'s came back in the second half and out scored St. Ignace, but it was not enough to overcome their first half deficit and lost last Thursday, 38-28.

In the first quarter the girls couldn't seem to buy a basket. The score at the end of the quarter was 4-0, St. Ignace.

In the second quarter, St. Ignace out shot Grayling, 14 to 6. The score at the end of the third quarter was 28-

14. Brenda Moshier was high scorer for the team with 7 points. Other points were made by: Cindy Fedewa 6, Ellisa Cox 2, Tara Tope and Kendra Wert 2 each, and Andrea Austin and Kim Labo 1 each.

Coach Hudson said Brenda Moshier had dominated the boards and had played her best game this year. Tara Tope and Andrea Austin also played good games.

BIG BEAR—Al Matkovich, of Big Blue Lake, Kalkaska, while hunting in Canada, shot a 575-pound black bear. It measured from nose to hind paw, 8 ft. 4 in. and from nose to tail 6 ft. 1 in.

1st Place Wins $50 Each Week!

Heidi Mead, of Grayling, won the $50 weekly prize with 17 right. Her pick of 46 points for the MSU-Miami game hit the total number of points right on the head. She beat out Gary Derenzy, tiebreaker pick of 42, and Bonnie Odell, tiebreaker pick of 48, who both also had 17 right.

Coming in second were Betty MacLeod, Nathan Mead, Heather Derenzy, Carol Conklin, Gary McLaughlin, and Mike Kirmo with 16 right.

Our wonderful Detroit Lions burned no less than 126 local persons who picked them to beat Pittsburgh in the Silverdome. With a total of 160 persons playing in the contest, that means more than 78 percent were disappointed by the Lions again.

Not very many people correctly picked Rhode Island to beat Brown. Oh well, maybe you'll have better luck this week. Check out game #19.

Leaders in the overall contest after just four weeks of our 15 week contest are Mike McNamara with 61 total right, Mike Beckwith, Gary Derenzy, Mick McNamara, and Heidi Mead with 59; Marie St. Germain with 58; Heather Derenzy and Carol Conklin 57; Corky Hellebuyck, Art Malknecht, and Arthur Thayer with 56. There are lots of others still in the running with 11 weeks left.

TO THE CUSTOMERS OF MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED GAS COMPANY

The Following is Published by Direction of the Michigan Public Service Commission in Case No. U-9469

NOTICE OF HEARING

On August 31, 1989, Michigan Consolidated Gas Company (MichCon) filed an application with the Michigan Public Service Commission (Commission) for approval of the joint agreement and cost recovery related to MichCon's Energy Conservation Programs.

MichCon is a Michigan corporation with principal offices located at 500 Griswold Street, Detroit, Michigan and is engaged in the distribution and sale of natural gas to approximately one million residential, commercial and industrial customers, all within the State of Michigan.

On September 9, 1986, the Commission issued an Order and Notice of Hearing in Case No. U-8528 commencing a generic review of the Michigan Residential Conservation Services (MRCS) programs and Zero-Interest Loan programs. MichCon, along with other utilities, participated in the proceedings. On June 28, 1988, the Commission issued its Opinion and Order in Case No. U-8528 directing each electric and gas utility operating an MRCS program to file a biennial energy conservation plan with the Commission Staff (Staff). The Commission specified in its Order that the Staff was to conduct an informal review of the utilities' reports and "if the utility, the Staff and all interested parties are able to agree to modifications for that utility's energy conservation programs, the parties should jointly file application seeking approval of the modifications by the Commission." On December 2, 1988, MichCon filed its energy conservation report and served copies on all of the participating utilities and various intervenor groups which might have an interest in the plan.

Subsequently, MichCon participated in a series of reviews and discussions with Staff and the participating parties listed in its application which resulted in a final energy conservation report and settlement agreement.

Copies of the settlement agreement and energy conservation report, which, among other things, detail and explain the modifications to its energy conservation programs and the proposed cost recovery, are attached to its application. As more specifically set forth in the application, settlement agreement and report, MichCon's proposed conservation programs include: (a) continuation of and modifications to its residential energy audit service; (b) initiation of a residential low-interest financing program for the installation of ceiling insulation, high-efficiency gas-fired furnaces and clock thermostats; (c) operation of a residential weatherization service pilot program; (d) programs and services targeted to high-usage Michigan Department of Social Services clients enrolled in the Heating Assistance Plan; (e) continuation of and modifications to its commercial energy audit services; (f) incentives for commercial and industrial customers to install cost-effective conservation measures; (g) operation of a commercial energy accounting pilot program; and (h) the offering of assistance and technical studies for industrial and large commercial customers.

Based on projected average annual costs for the initial three-year period under the energy conservation programs of $6,127,000 and annual non-transportation rate schedule sales of 204.2 billion cubic feet (Bcf), MichCon requests approval to implement a uniform surcharge of 0.3 cents per hundred cubic feet (Ccf) or 0.298 cents per therm, (conservation programs surcharge) to enable it to recover its estimated conservation programs costs, inclusive of all under-recovered MRCS program costs.

MichCon further proposes to: (a) discontinue its MRCS surcharge effective with the implementation of the proposed conservation programs surcharge and carry forward any over/under recoveries of MRCS program expenses as expenses under the energy conservation programs; (b) on or before September 30, 1991, file for reconciliation of its energy conservation programs expenses for the period from July 1, 1988, through June 30, 1991; and (c) submit its next Energy Conservation Report no later than September 30, 1991.

MichCon represents that replacement of its MRCS surcharge with the proposed conservation surcharge would increase rates to current rate schedule customers by 0.154 cents per Ccf.

MichCon's filing is available for inspection at the offices of the Commission's Executive Secretary, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan, and at the offices of Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, 500 Griswold Street, Detroit, Michigan.

Jurisdiction is pursuant to 1909 PA 300, as amended, MCLA 462.2 et seq.; 1919 PA 419, as amended, MCLA 460.51 et seq.; 1939 PA 3, as amended, MCLA 460.1 et seq.; 1969 PA 306, as amended, MCLA 24.201 et seq.; the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 1979 Administrative Code, R 460.11 et seq.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that:

A. A public hearing in this matter will be held at 9 a.m. on October 18, 1989 in the offices of the Commission, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan. The hearing will be in the nature of a prehearing conference and will be held for the purpose of considering matters which will expedite this proceeding. If appropriate, the hearing will also involve the presentation of evidence by MichCon and other parties to the proceeding. Any interested persons may attend the hearing and participate, subject to the provisions of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure.

B. Any person seeking to intervene in accordance with Rule 11 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure Before the Commission shall file with this Commission, on or before October 13, 1989, an original and 15 copies of a Petition to Intervene, with a Proof of Service indicating service upon David C. Champion, Office of General Counsel, Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, 500 Griswold Street, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

Subparagraph (2) of said Rule 11 provides as follows:

"(2) A petition to intervene shall set out clearly and concisely the facts supporting the petitioner's alleged right or interest, the grounds of the proposed intervention, and the position of the petitioner in the proceeding, so as fully and completely to advise the parties and the Commission of the specific issues of fact or law to be raised or controverted." (Emphasis added)

The commission will require strict compliance with the above-quoted rule.

The Bible Speaks

The Gospel of John Part #98 Prayer for Our Unity

Our Lord Jesus Christ prayed for the unity of all Christians as one organism, and not one outward organization. He reminded us in John 17:20-23 of three areas in which we as Christians are to be united. First, we are united through faith in His word which unites us to Him and brings us salvation. "Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word." (John 17:20). This included every believer in this age of grace. Until one is united with Christ by faith in His word, there is no union or basis for unity in the body of Christ. "So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God." (Rom. 10:17).

The second area in which all Christians are to experience unity is in the person of Christ. This method of unity is stated in John 17:21, "That they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that thou hast sent me." This doctrine of the deity of Jesus Christ as part of the eternal trinity is essential for unity. "Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son. If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him God speed: For he that biddeth him God speed is partaker of his evil deeds." (2 John 9-11). The manifestation of this unity is found in John 17:22, "And the glory which thou gavest me I have given them; that they may be one, even as we are one."

The third area of Christian unity is in the work of Jesus Christ as our savior. "I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me." (John 17:23). God the Father is sending His Son to die for our sins loved us with the same love with which He loved His only begotten Son. "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3:16). God loved us in spite of our sin. "But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were sinners, Christ died for us." (Rom. 5:8). "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not." (1 John 3:1). "Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another." (1 John 4:11).

The Falling Leaves...

Farewell summer. The trees begin to change color and, against blue skies, fall brings with it the most brilliant display of all.

As autumn advances, wooded hills and fields are brightened. A beautiful spectacle unfolds as nature's annual show of foliage fireworks burst with lemon yellow, vivid red and deep orange.

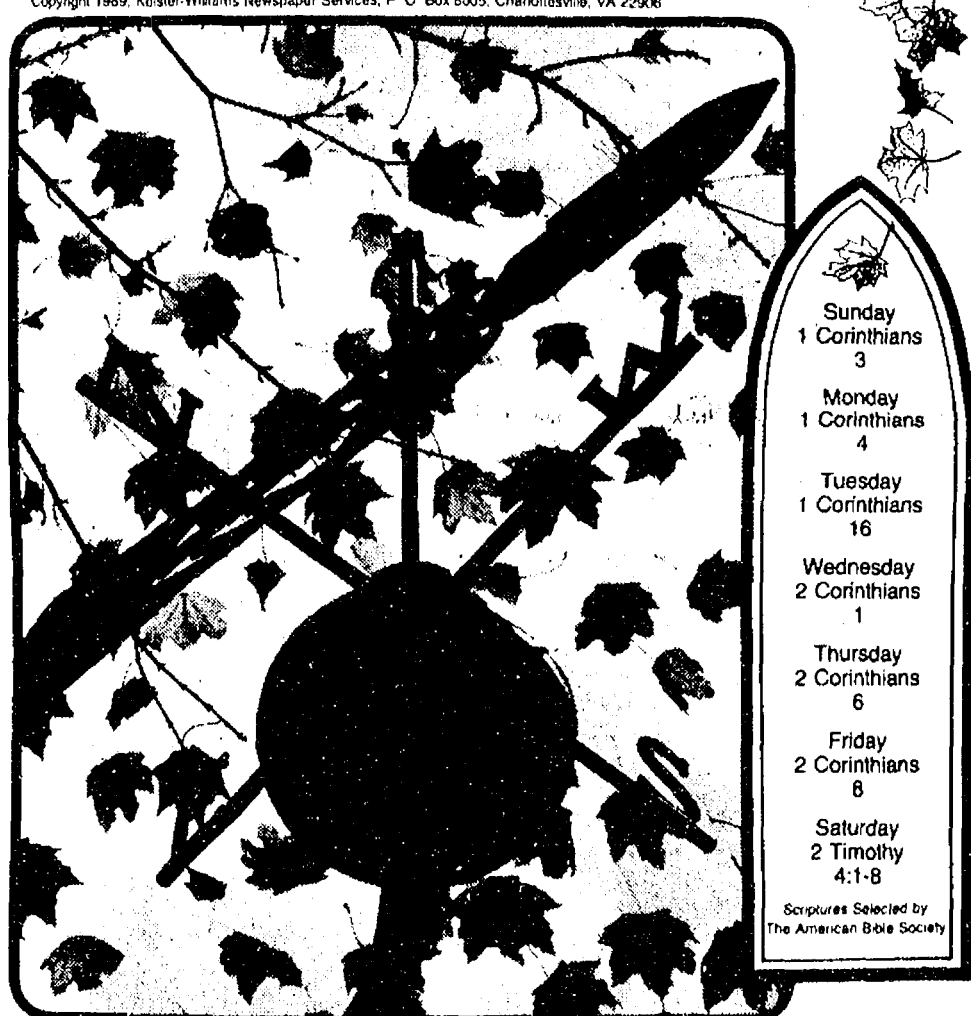

Eventually, the blaze of colors fades and gives way to earthy tones of rust and brown, burnt gold and bronze.

With the first frost, the leaves shrivel. A wisp of wind cuts them down and sends them dancing to the earth below. Even before the last leaf withers away, the trees begin to hibernate. Soon, dismantled and quite naked, a soft white down of snow warmly covers their branches. They will sleep thru winter awaiting the growing buds of spring.

Whatever the season, each plays its part. As one ends another begins. The continuous presence of God in nature, landscape and life is to know there is a Creator, Author and Designer of all things.

Worship this week and feel His presence.

Verse or Worse

By Joe Murphy

Who's Old ?

Let me tell you of a lady
One of the sweetest that I know
Just to see her saucy smile
Can set my old heart aglow

She may have winter in her hair
But it's always springtime in her heart
She won't let old age force her
To play the old lady's part

She is happiest when she's walking
And I don't mean just a little stroll
It takes at least ten miles
Before she really starts to roll

Just give her some railroad tracks
Where she can see nature at every side
And you'll see a happy lady
Full of energy and pride

While other folks at her age
Are ready for the rocking chair
Don't bother looking there for Mary
Because you won't find her there

Sweet Mary is only eighty-four
So don't try to call her old
She is still following her rainbows
Looking for that pot of gold

She is the one who can convince you
That old age is just a state of mind
I hope she lives forever
We can't afford to lose her kind

Poet's Corner

Ode To The Snore

Ah, bedtime! What a wonderful hour.
The time when problems lose their power.
Your children must retreat to their rooms
And you can retire from dishes and brooms.

The house grows quiet - such a lovely sound.
And you shape your pillows in a comfortable mound.
Please, you pray, give me peaceful dreams.
Everything's perfect - or so it seems.

You seem to have forgotten the little matter
Of your husband's involvement with midnight chatter.
Just as you're drifting off to sleep
He gives you a little warning bleep.

He wouldn't dare start a snoring bout!
"I need my sleep," you want to shout.
But sure enough, the sounds get louder
And he smiles as though he couldn't be prouder.

First you shake him to make him stop
But the noise level doesn't even drop.
He just keeps snoring which keeps you awake
And you'd like to say - Go jump in the lake!

Next you try kicking him in the side,
But the waterbed moves and gives him a ride.
Oh, please! Oh, Please! This has to stop!
Or you're gonna haul off and give him a pop!

Just as you're plotting your next attack
He moves and winds up on his back.
He wouldn't! He couldn't! But, alas, it's true.
He's even turned his head toward you.

This is war - You'll give him a shock!
You'll stuff his mouth with his own dirty sock!
Anything to stop that horrible sound.
Even if he has to be gagged and bound.

Oh, he'll wake up and be mad' at you.
But truly, what else could you do?
You have rights, of which one is sleep
And he was the one being a creep!

Finally he awakens and to your surprise
He pulls out the sock and only sighs.
"I guess I've been at it again."
And then you start laughing because of him.
"I really do love you," you say with a grin.

Hunting

By Joe Murphy

This week we will talk about something everyone is sure will never happen to them, getting lost. When someone asked Daniel Boone if he had ever got lost he replied "No, but I've been a might confused for a few days sometimes."

When a wandering Indian was asked if he was lost he said "Me not lost, teepee lost."

Let's set a scenario for getting lost. You are hunting familiar country so you pay no attention to your route of travel.

You just have an hour or so to hunt before dark so you hurry into the woods without all your gear. You find a good runway and sit down to watch it till dark. Soon movement catches your eye and a doe slips past you. You become very alert and soon see a buck following the doe's trail. You shoot and are sure you hit him though the buck takes off in high gear. You find hair and blood and find a fair blood trail.

The snow that has been falling lightly begins to fall heavy with high winds as a fall blizzard hits. You hurry along the blood trail that twists and winds through the woods. Just at the last light of day you see the buck laying ahead of you, his head is still up so you shoot him in the neck and he's yours. You do a quick job of field dressing, tag him and attach your drag rope. That's when you realize you have no idea which direction to go.

It's dark by now and storming hard, your tracks are covered. You reach for your compass, then realize it's in your other coat. The same thing goes for the lighter you carry to start fires even though you don't smoke. Now you realize you are lost and without any idea just where you are.

Don't panic, even if you have to spend the night in the woods there's nothing to worry about. It can be an interesting experience and part of becoming a woodsman and hunter. What is there to worry about? You have food and even with out a lighter or match you can start a fire. Take stock of the situation. Maybe you remember a pine grove or so back on the trail. That will offer some relief from the wind and snow so you drag the buck back to the pines.

It's better here under the pines and you think a fire would be nice. Can do, for you can use your rifle to start a fire. Gather up the driest tinder you can find and shave a little pile of dry pine shavings. Now unload your rifle take one of the shells and insert the bullet end in the end of the barrel. Now wiggle the case gently to loosen the bullet. Now take the shell in your hands and pull the bullet out of the case with your fingers. Dump the gun powder on your pile of shavings. Put the empty case in the rifle, hold the end of the barrel close to the powder and fire the primer. The powder will ignite and burn hot to start your fire. Modern gun powder does not explode if not confined in the case. If the timber is not dry, empty the powder from three or four cases to start your fire.

Well you got fire and food, next week we'll try to get you out of there.

Resource Review

By Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

As one travels through our local woodlands, it is hard not to notice the crop of acorns produced by various oak trees. Because these acorns, or mast, are so valuable as wildlife food, the trees which produce them deserve a closer look.

The Oak genus (Quercus) is a large one, comprising nearly three hundred species throughout the northern hemisphere. Fifty of these species are found in North America and eleven in Michigan. These can be divided into two groups, the white oaks and the red oaks. The white oaks have leaves with rounded lobes and acorns which ripen in the autumn of their first season. The kernels of these acorns are usually sweet. Examples of white oaks are white oak, fur oak, and swamp oak.

The red oaks have leaves with pointed lobes, and bitter kernel acorns which mature in the autumn of their second season. Red oak, pin oak and scarlet oak are examples of this group.

Good hunters know that when oaks drop their acorns in late September and October, various species of wildlife flock to the scene to reap nature's bounty. deer, bear, squirrels, raccoons, turkeys, pheasants, ducks, doves, elk, muskrat, beaver, mice, and sundry other species eat acorns.

During periods of acorn abundance, it is often better to hunt near this natural food supply than the carrot and beet piles which suddenly and unnaturally spring up.

In addition to wildlife food, acorns provide nutritional food for humans.

Americans and early settlers learned that leeching removes tannin from the acorns. Tannin is the chemical which gives acorns their bitter taste.

To leech them, boil the nut meats for a couple of hours, changing the water as it becomes stained by the tannin. Allow them to sun dry or roast them in the oven. Acorns can be used like any other nut or ground up and used as flour in baking bread.
